Dear Dr. Jurdlof:

We think it is a sin and a crime to add growth hormones (or anything else unnatural, for that matter)
to farm animal food.

You get to the point where you don't have a clue as to what the heck you're eating and what kind of ultimate harm these things will do down the road to the human body.

I feel that what these practices will do is ultimately drive more and more people away from eating meat. (Of course, that would be the ultimate solution, wouldn't it?)

I hope you will keep as your Number One consideration the health of the American people (both short- and long-term).

Thank you for your time.

Mrs. Donald Sarna

P.S. And do we trust the "research" on these chemicals? Not on your life!
